Melanie Bromley

StyleCon is excited to announce E! News Talent and three time Emmy Nominated television personality Melanie Bromley as celebrity host for the StyleCon 2017 StyleStage.

In 2012, Bromley joined E! News and E! Online as Chief News Correspondent concentrating on on-air coverage, overseeing big breaking stories, and writing long form investigations and op-eds for eonline.com.

Bromley regularly appears on a variety of shows across the network including E! News and E! News specials. She is the co-host of E!'s wildly popular Live From E!, which broadcasts daily on Facebook Live and E!Online. During breaking news the show can get upwards of more than two million viewers.

In 2012, she co-hosted the network's coverage of the Olympic Games in London alongside Giuliana Rancic, Ryan Seacrest and Catt Sadler, while also conducting a daily show with Caitlyn Jenner. In 2013, she spearheaded coverage of the birth of Prince George, in 2014 she headed up reporting of Kim Kardashian and Kanye West's wedding from Paris and Florence, and in 2015, the birth of Princess Charlotte.

Bromley regularly appears as a pop culture expert on other U.S. networks and in her native UK. She has been featured on CNN, Good Morning America, The Today Show, BBC, Sky News and Daybreak among many others. Bromley has also been quoted in the Washington Post,[5] Financial Times, The Sunday Times of London, Vanity Fair[6] and other international print publications.

Bromley has been nominated for a Daytime Emmy three times, for E! News and her extensive live coverage in the wake of network colleague Joan Rivers' death.
